

09/170741

Abstract

In one embodiment, a method of performing video image decoding includes the following. A compressed video image is downsampled in the frequency domain. The downsampled video image is inverse transformed. Motion compensation for the downsampled image is performed in the spatial domain.

600267-1-102460